FOR MORE THAN 80 YEARS, Island Insurance has provided creative and affordable insurance solutions to Hawaii's families and businesses. Fueled by an enduring commitment to customers and communities, Island is the state's largest locally-owned property and casualty (P&C) insurer and partners with NFL quarterback and customer Marcus Mariota, who shares the company's local roots and values.

Reaching 15 years as one of Hawaii's Best Places to Work, Island also marked 13 years as one of the Ward Group's Top 50 P&C insurers in the nation based on financial stability. President Beverly Ament reflects upon Island's growing national recognition.

"For Island to be nationally ranked for excellence in financial strength is a testament to the valuable contributions and dedication of our talented team of employees," says Ament. "Our workforce is a cornerstone of our business and we consistently strive to cultivate a progressive and rewarding work environment."

The company's focus on empowering employees, rewarding initiative and promoting professional growth has yielded impressive results.

According to Ament, "We value individual growth by supporting employees interested in expanding their industry knowledge and skills with continuing education and professional training. In fact, Island has the highest percentage of employees with the Chartered Property Casualty Underwriter designation."

Additionally, the company looks to the future with its P&C Internship Program. "The first of its kind in Hawaii, Island's internship program encourages careers in insurance and develops future leaders in our industry," says Ament. "Our ongoing investment in employees goes beyond formal training to creating a balanced and enriching workplace."

The company regularly holds events where employees are treated to activities like costume contests, bowling, celebratory lunches and ice cream socials. Island supports community involvement by hosting and participating in events like the annual Halloween trick-or-treat festivities at Kapiolani Medical Center, and promotes healthy lifestyles by subsidizing monthly healthy lunch alternatives and offering fitness classes.

Lastly, Island encourages and recognizes employees with service awards, merits of achievement, customer service week celebrations, and leadership development opportunities.

"Showing our appreciation to employees and helping them grow professionally," says Ament, "is integral in building an engaging corporate culture that will attract and retain the most talented employees."
